THE FALLOF McSWATT

A WARNING TO MANKIND NOT TO FOOL WITH SCIENCE.

For if Agassius Had Only Let Well Enough Alone and Taken His Manager's Advice He Would Surely Have Been a World's Champion.

His ex-manager told me the story.
A friend of the ex-manager, on being asked if the latter was a man of truth and veracity, used to remark:

"I can answer for his truth, but as for veracity, why, some days he will and some days he won't."

"You remember Agassius McSwatt?" the ex-manager began. "Well, that man was the flower of all the heavyweights. Not a fighter among them could stand against him for three rounds. As a ring general he could outmaneuver Napoleon, while his hitting powers would make a pile driver look like a quarter of a dollar and its attendant nickel."

"But he grew old—pretty near 60 he was—and he left the ring. Just then along came this Russian, Metelnisneeze, with his theory of injecting young blood into old men and restoring lost youth while you wait. Now, that theory was all right. Metelnisneeze's injection is a bird if ever there was one."

"Well, McSwatt read about it, and he came to me with a big proposition. I arranged a match for him with O'Toole, one of the third rate heavyweights. O'Toole thought he had a chance against the old has been. Then we sent to Metelnisneeze for some of his invigorating preparation, and I injected about a cupful of it into Mc-Swatt's arm."

"It took a full 20 years off his life.
He re-entered the ring a man of 40, and in about 18 seconds O'Toole thought an Empire State express train was indulging in a sportive game of tag and that he was it."

"O'Toole went to sleep in the first round, and McSwatt and I collected about $12,000 between us in bets, gate money, etc."

"Then we challenged Sacket Tamm, the big second rater, and Sacket thought it would be like finding the money in the street."

"But we squirted another cupful of old Metelnisneeze's invigorator into McSwatt's arm at the ringside and brought him down to the age of 30."

"A local poet laureate described that fight in the following lurid yet graphic lines:

McSwatt mailed into Sacket, and he pulverized his joins.
And then he slugged him to the ropes, and he slammed him on the floor; He banged his solar plexus till it struck against his spine,
And Sacket thought he'd run against some Maine destroying mine.
Ah, 'twas a glorious bludge! And McSwatt's the people's pet, But Sacket doesn't know it, for he's sleeping soundly yet."

"That gave us the right to tackle some first class man, and we did."

"We challenged big McAbduff. There was just one heavyweight in the ring who could lick McAbduff, and that was the world's champion himself. The champion would come later.

"We gave McSwatt a tablespoonful of invigorator and made him 25 years old."

"Then we turned him loose on Mc-Abduff, and in two rounds McAbduff lay dreaming glad, glad dreams of home and mother."

"McSwatt was the idol of the nation, and when, the next month, Fitzshadbett, the world's champion heavyweight, accepted our challenge the popular excitement lay around in chinks on the sidewalk."

"Why, Dewey wasn't one, two, three with McSwatt for popularity."

"It was then I had my first quarrel with McSwatt. He wanted another dose of the invigorator, but I said 'No' very hard. He was quite young enough.
An overdose might make him too young."

"He seemed to yield to my views.
"The day of the fight arrived."

"Would that I had backed up the invigorator bottle beforehand!"

"The men entered the ring amid talantic applause. Just as I was putting on McSwatt's gloves he called out:

"Oh, pity, pity! Is those pity matters for me?"

"I thought he was fooling or else had a jaw."

"Just then he caught sight of Fitzshadbett's green and red fighting trights and stretched out his arms and began to caw and clap his hands."

"Daddy wants 'em!" he chattered. "If co don't die 'em to me right away quick, baby'll caw!"

"Then we carried him back to his dressing room, squalling and slapping at us and saying he'd tell mamma."

"You see, gentlemen, that man had got hold of the invigorator when I wasn't looking and had injected a whole pailful of the stuff into his arm.
It had brought him down to the tender age of 3."—New York World.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely de-range the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces.
Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them.
Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh

KANSAS CITY WANTS IT.

Declares She Will Secure National Democratic Convention.

New York, Feb. 13.—A special to The Herald from Washington says:

Before Mr. Bryan left Washington Saturday he held an important conference with some of the Democratic leaders and it was decided that the Democratic national convention should be held prior to the Republican and Populist conventions. It is understood Mr.
Bryan is anxious that his party shall take the field first, announce its platform and prepare for the national conflict before his political rivals formally declare their campaign intentions.

Notwithstanding the assertion by members of the Democratic national committee that at a recent conference at Chicago it was decided to hold the convention in Milwaukee, there seems to be a disposition to rescind that action.
Missouri representatives declare Kansas City will wrest the prize from New York, Milwaukee, Chicago or any other city.

Possibilities For Home Dealers.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Consul General Snow of Cape Town served notice upon American manufacturers through a report to the bureau of foreign commerce, that as soon as the war in South Africa is over there will be a boom which will afford many opportunities for the introduction of American goods and American enterprises. The country will then be short of supplies, he says, particularly breadstuffs, and in many other directions the demand will be large. Vehicles, tools and harness will be needed; much furniture has been destroyed, and the country will want the countless things required by one emerging from a war.

N. W. Cotton Mill In Alabama.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 13.—Randolph, in Randolph county, has perfected all preliminary arrangements for building a large cotton mill, the capital stock being $100,000. It is to be operated and known as the W. A. Handley Manufacturing company. The charter has been applied for and placed selected for the mill. Actual work for this enterprise will begin in a few days.

Prosperity Brings R. pentance.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Secretary Gage today directed that there be covered in the treasury to the credit of conscience fund $100 received from Toledo, O., Jan. 22. The amount has been held at the treasury for several weeks pending the possible arrival of some information concerning it, but as this has not come, it is supposed to be a conscience contribution and is so treated.

Sympathy For Taylor.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 13.—The lower house of the Republican legislature in session here adopted a resolution returning its thanks to the Ohio league of Republican clubs for sympathy and encouragement extended to Governor Taylor in the present crisis. "Three-two members were present, less than a quorum, and no other business was done."

Boers Aggressive at Rensburg.

BRINSFORD, Cape Colony, Feb. 13.— The Boers are actively pressing around Rensburg. The British force under Lieutenant Colonel Page, consisting of a section of artillery and 150 horse, which reached Rensburg on Feb. 10, has been compelled to fall back on Rensburg, owing to its eastern flank being threatened.
